Aqua Sana welcomes Irish seaweed skincare brand for two pop-up

concepts

Following a very popular pop-up concept at Aqua Sana Woburn Forest at the start of 2017, Aqua Sana has invited VOYA back to two of its five spas for further pop-up sessions. The Irish seaweed skincare brand is currently at Bedfordshire's Aqua Sana Woburn Forest until 22nd February 2018 and will also be available to guests at Nottinghamshire's Aqua Sana Sherwood Forest between 26th January and 22nd February 2018.

Hailing from County Sligo, Ireland, VOYA harnesses the natural goodness of seaweed in all their products. Founded by the Mark and Kira Walton over 10 years ago, VOYA is the world's first certified, organic seaweed based skincare range. The Irish seaweed is hand-harvested to create over 50 products that utilise the minerals, vitamins and bioactive compounds which make up 80% of seaweed.

Kay Pennington, Aqua Sana Group Spa Manager said;

“We’re really excited about VOYA returning to Woburn Forest and coming to Sherwood Forest in 2018, to deliver more fantastic treatments to our guests. Our Aqua Sana spas help so many people step over that threshold into spa and realise the benefits for the first time, and we want that journey of discovery to continue. The VOYA brand is so in tune with our own love of all things natural and they make such a great addition to the experience we offer.”

All treatments can be booked by spa guests online in advance or on the day (subject to availability).
